

New York Based Corporate Training Firm Improving Communications presents a one-day seminar designed for business professionals.

Improving Presentation Skills

Improving Presentation Skills is a one-day training for leaders who have had some experience in public speaking (sales, executives, public relations). The benefits include developing the ability to:

- Communicate clearly and with conviction;
- Project a confident, positive, and credible image;
- Overcome nervousness;
- Motivate and persuade the audience with facts and examples;
- Use body language (Gestures, Movement, Posture, Eye Contact) to increase understanding;
- Accept questions and respond with clear and well-thought-out answers;
- Be more relaxed and natural when making presentations; and
- Involve participants and achieve the desired results.

This is the chance for you to make a difference in how you communicate with others.
